TIME AND MONEY SAVINGS

Compared to judicial processes, mediation is generally faster and more cost-effective, allowing the parties to reach agreements without incurring the high costs of litigation.

CONFIDENTIALITY

Unlike public judicial proceedings, mediation is a confidential process, which protects the parties´ privacy and allows for more open and honest discussions.

CONTROL AND PERSONALIZATION OF THE OUTCOME

In mediation, the parties have more control over the final outcome and can design more creative solutions tailored to their specific needs, rather than accepting a decision imposed by a judge.
